A SUDDEN DEATH.

Mrs. Maggie Price, of Price's Fork, Montgomery county, was taken suddenly ill last night just before she reached the Lawrence Sneed Chapel, which she started to attend in company with her daughter, Mrs. Smith, of First avenue n. w. Her symptoms became so alarming that she was taken to the residence of Mr. Adams, near the church, and Dr. H. E. Jones was sent for, but before he reached the patient, she was dead. It is not known what was the immediate cause of death, but it is supposed the heart was diseased. The remains will be taken to Vicksburg on the 8 o'clock train this morning for interment.

A PRETTY WEDDING.

A beautiful marriage ceremony was solemnized yesterday at Mr. Pleasant M. E. Church, about 3 miles southeast of the city, at 2:30 o'clock, in which the contracting parties were William S. Phelps, the genial and popular traveling salesman of the R. H. Fishburne Tobacco Company, and Miss Enla, the beautiful and accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Richardson. The church was handsomely decorated with cedar, ferns and flowers. The wedding party entered while Miss Meadows, of Roanoke, was rendering one of Mendelssohn's wedding marches. The ceremony was solemnized by Rev. Dr. Brown, the pastor, in a very impressive manner, after which the newly wedded pair received the congratulations of their many friends at the door. The ushers were N. W. Phelps, Wilmer Andrews, Dr. O. W. Woods and O. W. Stover. Mr. and Mrs. Phelps took the 4:30 train for Memphis, Tenn., where they will spend several weeks.

ROOMS WANTED.—Four or five unfurnished rooms for housekeeping. Good price paid for the right quarters. Send your terms and description. No attention paid to answers unless terms are stated. Address, "KENT," Times office.

ARRANGEMENTS MADE.

C. E. Hardy, manager of the V. P. I. football team, was in the city yesterday and made all the final arrangements for the game to be played in this city on Thanksgiving day with the University of Tennessee. Both teams are strong, and a close game may be expected. These schools are exceedingly friendly terms, and the game will be devoid of slugging and scrapping that always characterizes football where there is much rivalry between the teams.

SOME PEOPLE SAY—

That those who are making the most noise over the delinquent land tax question never owned an inch of real estate and have difficulty in getting a square meal.

That some people know so little about the question at issue that they do not know which side to shout for.

That some of the trouble arises from the poor work done by the lawyers who were paid to report on the titles at the dates of the various sales.

That it is a fine state of affairs for a city to have the State enjoined from collecting her taxes.

That it is a wise man who knows his own property.

That in many cases it would be a tough job for even a "Philadelphia lawyer" to declare a clear title to some Roanoke property.

That when the grapes hang very high the "foxy" individual says he doesn't want any of them.

That some little people can act the part of a blackguard without the public knowing anything about it—too small for notice.

That a blatant hypocrite will write, and maybe print, lots of moralities, and in business act the part of a villain.

That Salem enterprise is reaching out for Roanoke money.

That the Choral Society concert to-night will be a treat for the soul.

That Roanoke will be treated to some spiritualism next week.

That bicycle riders think glass throwers should be hung—pretty severe remedy this.

That it is pretty near time for the coal combine to squeeze the dear people.

That Heironimus & Brugh's new store will be an ornament to the city and a success for the enterprising firm.

That the darkey with a razor isn't a marker to the Roanoke druggists. See?

That when grocers disagree, the people get their coffee cheap.

That the "citizens' committee" have not been overwhelmed with financial help.

That Santa Claus is commencing to pack his reindeer sleigh.

That the Virginia legislature will soon have the people by the throat.

That the new letter carrier is very proud of his uniform.
